THE SNOW SHOE REGION

Fifth Instalment of Historical Sketch.

MOSHANNON MILLS

Organization of Snow Shoe Township—Saw Mill and Other Improvements.

COMPILED BY JAMES GILLILAND

At Beech Creek it was within the reach of every settler, and, so far as sawed lumber was concerned as an item of expense in the improvement of the country. the people were more favorably situated than in the older settlements, and hence one great objection to the settling of Snow Shoe was removed. The effects were soon visible in the improvement of houses and barns and in the erection of new buildings.

In the spring of 1841 there were twenty-six families residing in Snow Shoe. Among those not included as "first settlers" were John Mulhollan and Austin Hinton, who were useful citizens, and active in contributing to the improvement of the country. John Mulhollan died several years ago, and left a considerable estate, which he divided before his death among his heirs. Mr. Hinton remains a citizen, and perhaps has seen and can give more information relating to the development of the country than any person now living.

MOSHANNON MILLS.

In the spring of 1847 James Gilliland purchased from Joseph and Jacob Gratz three tracts of the Wallace lands on the Little Moshannon Creek; he formed a partnership with Henry Vandyke, of Bellefonte, and in November following completed and put in operation a first-class saw mill, with a sixteen-foot over-shot wheel connected with a dam twenty feet in height; opened the first store in the county, established a blacksmith shop, and in the spring of 1850 completed a grist-mill equal in all its equipments to the best mill in the county, and made flour from Snow Shoe wheat of a superior quality. This removed another serious difficulty which prevented people who were seeking homes from locating in Snow Shoe; and from this time forward settling increased more rapidly, and the improvement and development of the country became more active.

In 1840 the Hon. Samuel Linn, W. W. Hayes, and Alfred Hayes purchased a water privilege and grounds, for the necessary buildings from Gilliland & Vandyke, and erected a large tannery, which, with the improvements above mentioned, combined to make Moshannon Mills a centre of much business. A considerable trade was established with the adjoining townships of Clearfield and with Elk county.

In 1848 or 1849 the Rev. Mr. Bates, of Lancaster county, who owned the tract of land at the junction of the Big Moshannon Creek with the Susquehanna River, commenced the erection of a saw mill, and, under the direction of inexperienced agents and unskillful mechanics, expended a large amount of money, which in the end proved an unprofitable investment for him, but added to the improvement of the country.

In 1849 William Stewart, of Huntingdon county, purchased from Messrs. Gratz & Wallace tract of land about five miles from the river, and put in operation the first steam saw mill in the country. Soon after the mill went into operation, Dr. M. Stewart became interested with his brother in the business, and, with his family, resided at the mills. They purchased adjoining timber lands, and, in addition to manufacturing sawed lumber, engagad to some extent in the square timber business. They also erected another saw mill nearer to the river, which is still in operation. They hauled their lumber to the river at Karthaus and to the mouth of Big Moshannon, and floated it to market in rafts, until after the completion of the Bellefonte and Snow Shoe Railroad, when it was more profitable to ship by rail.

Both have contributed to the improvement of the country in the erection of residences, in the construction of which good taste was displayed and comfort obtained. William's is at the village of Snow Shoe, and the Doctor's occupies an elevated and beautiful site on the Karthaus road, from which is a charming forest view stretching far into Clearfield county.

The writer deems it proper to state here, that in noteing these improvements he has, as to dates, in some cases, depended altogether on his memory, and can only approximate the exact dates. His house was destroyed by fire, in which he lost all his books and papers, from which he could have given the date of the commencement of every improvement and coincidence of any importance connected with the history of the Snow Shoe region.

William and John Bard, on a Wallace tract purchased from the Gratzes, about 1850, erected a house on the Karthaus road, near Beech Creek, in which William Forsiman kept a hotel for several years, and after he left was continued as a hotel by Daniel Wolf. About or a short time after erecting the hotel they put into operation a saw mill on Beech Creek. After the completion of the Bellefonte and Snow Shoe Railroad, they sold to a Baltimore company, who enlarged the mill and applied steam power. A few years ago the mill was destroyed by fire, and has not been rebuilt.

SUSCEPTIBLE FARMER FLIM FLAMMED

Several Strangers Worked an Old Dodge on Him and Secured $600.

Lewis R. Amig, an aged and well-to-do citizen of Selinsgrove, a man who has had experience in all the various transactions that go to make up a lifetime, was neatly flim flammed Thursday, which was circus day at that little inland village.

Mr. Amig came in contact with a pair of crooks, apparently in interested conversation on the matter of advertising the show business. The attention of the Selinsgrove citizen was at once riveted by the sight of an envelope bulging with greenbacks, and around and about this were others containing lesser amounts—money in that little firm appeared to be of no consideration. The big envelope mentioned contained $750, and the man who held it made things appear as though he and his companion had not met before. He was evidently trying to persuade the party of the second part to try his luck.

The game was a good one—each envelope was marked on one side with the amount it contained, ranging from $5 to $50, and one of them contained $750, and this one was, before the opening of the game, exposed to view.

The proposition was made to Mr. Amig that if he could cover the $750 he could play, and a trial for the fun of the thing was made. Mr. Amig first drew $10, then again $30, and again $50, all the while with the $750 in sight as a possibility when out of sight and in the game.

He became more earnest and said he had no money with him, but could secure it. The party to the second then stated that if Mr. Amig would raise $600, he, the party to the second part, would raise $150 and they would put the man with the little yellow envelope out of business. This was planned in secret.

The result was that Mr. Amig secured the endorsement of G. R. Hendricks, drew the $600 from the bank, met the fakire in an alley, accompanied them to a secret place and it required but a few moments until Mr. Amig had bid a sorrowful farewell to his $600. Whether he will ever meet and greet it again will remain for the courts to decide, as he has had the offenders arrested.

Other parties were parted from their ready cash in a similar manner.

New Scheme to Build Churches.

Riley W. Allen, of Williamsport, is nothing if not original, says the Sun. Some time ago he advanced a plan by which the desired new First Baptist church could be paid for without trouble. It was simple enough. "Pick out five men in the congregation and insure their lives for $10,000 each. Let the church pay the premiums," he said. "If the Lord wants to help the project along he will soon call the five home." Mr. Allen offered to run the risk of sacrificing himself by taking one of the policies and paying the premium himself.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the U. B. Church will sell Ice Cream in the Aid Society room next to the church Saturday evening Sept 2, 05.

BIG ARMIES WILL CLASH

If Peace Conference Proves a Failure.

HEAVILY RE-INFORCED

Both Armies Have Been Quietly Strengthening Their Forces—Theatre of War Changed.

THE FRONTS HAVE BEEN EXTENDED

Gunshu Pass, Aug 28.—Intelligence of the constitutional grants by the government has been received by the army, and general information relating to Portsmouth affairs continues to reach here from three to ten day late.

Since the Japanese reconnoitered the Russian centre about twenty-five or thirty miles on August 10, which resulted in retaliatory skirmishing as well as the checkmating of a wide movement of considerable bodies of troops throughout three days, nothing important has occurred. During the long quiet there have been reinforcements to both sides, giving the theatre of war a much changed appearance. The front has been greatly extended, made possible by the use of the wireless telegraph, and because of the unexampled size of the armies, the character of the third stage of the war, whether it be active hostilities, remobilization or the garrisoning of contested territory, will be complicated.

MANCHURIA DESTINY FIXED

The relative positions of the two armies is comparable to that of a year ago, and the country immediately facing the Japanese is almost identical with that which confronted them at Liao Yang.

The acquisition of the railway and rivers by the Japanese at Mukden, together with their Fenwang Cheng communications and defense, running from the head of navigation on the Yalu river across to Kaiyuan, with the occupation of the Changpaishan mountain region, makes control of the administration of South Manchuria as complete as that achieved in the north, by similar organization, and in the rapid consolidation of these connections the destiny of Manchuria is clearly fixed regardless of other influences.

CROPS UNDER CULTIVATION.

The Associated Press correspondent recently travereed two hundred miles over the old imperial hunting reserve on the east flank, which was opened to settlement several years ago. Heavy crops of oil cans, millet, maize, indigo and hemp are under cultivation there now. This comprises a region extensively scouted by the Japanese, who appear old and active pending the negotiations. The people complain of horse thieves and robbers.

There is general appreciation throughout of the demonstrations in the United States for M. Witte.

After an enormous rainfall during the past ten days it is believed that the rainy season is closed.

Looking for Site for New Fish Hatcheries.

Commissioner of Fisheries W. E. Meehan will pay this county a visit shortly to view a site offered for a fish hatchery to be established in the central part of the state. Hon. J. Lee Plummer is at the head of the movement having for its purpose the location of the hatchery on Piney Creek. It is not at all definite that the hatchery will be located at this point, as two other sites have also been offered. One of these is at Barre on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad. The tract of land offered contains 30 acres and the water supply, an ample one, is furnished by spring-fed creeks. One peculiar inducement which obtains at this proffered site is that the land borders on the State forestry reserve there. Bedford county is also after a fish hatchery and is willing to hand 50 acres of land over to the State for this purpose. Congressman Reynolds of Bedford was in Harrisburg recently and had an extended conference with Fish Commissioner Meehan. The congressman controls a fine spring near Reynoldsville about 13 miles from the famous Bedford, and is extremely anxious to have one of the hatcheries located there. Since its creation less than two and one-half years ago, the Pennsylvania department of fisheries has secured over 130 acres of land for the pursuance of its work, having a total value of from $12,000 to $15,000.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Many Criminal Cases to be Tried This Week.

Specially Reported by W Harrison Walker.

The regular term of Court commenced on Monday morning of this week with Hon Ellis L. Orvis, President Judge, on the bench. Prothonotary Kimport, Register Archey and Official Court stenographer. Burrow, were in their respective places. The morning session was taken up, mostly, in the presentations of motions and petitions by the several attorneys at the bar. The parties summoned to appear as grand jurors were then called in their box, and after the Court appointed Michael Hess, of Bellefonte, Forman delivered the charge to them explaining fully their duties etc., as well as discussing the several offenses which would come before them in the nature of Bills of indictment.

The Constables of the several Boroughs and Townships then made their quarterly returns.

There are quite a number of Criminal Cases on the list for trial this week, including the case of Commonwealth vs Charles Stewart, Howard Stewart and Winfield Gregg, who are charged with being implicated in the death of Michael McHugh, whose body was found in the Moshannon Creek near his home at Osceola, on Tuesday April 11th 1905. A large number of witnesses from that section of the County are present, but as yet the case has not been called by the Grand Jury, nor, the witnesses heard.

There are sixteen cases on the Civil List for the week but the following have been continued:

L. W. Kimport vs Linden Hall Lumber Company, being an appeal.

Carrie E. Smith vs Mary H. Snyder, also an appeal.

Linden Hall Lumber Company vs L. W. Kimport

MRS. REBECCA SPARR.

Well Known Resident of Harris Township is Dead.

Mrs. Rebecca Sparr the oldest and the wealthiest woman in Harris township, died at her home in Boalsburg Sunday evening at 10 o'clock. Her death was due to the infirmities of old age she having passed the 82nd milestone in life's journey. About a year ago the aged lady visited California and she has never been well since her return. For two weeks past she has been dangerously ill.

She was married twice, her first husband was Joseph Meyer, a well known musician, who died in 1862 while playing the organ at the dedication of the Reformed church at Boalsburg. She then married David Sparr, a prominent citizen of the county who died many years ago. She leaves no children but is survived by one sister, Mrs. Brungart, of Rebersburg.

Mrs. Sparr was a member of the Reformed church and a woman of high christian character. She enjoyed the love and respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The funeral took place on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The services were held in the Reformed church at Boalsburg. Rev. A. A. Black officiating. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

PLATT CASE SETTLED.

An Amicable Arrangement Made Between Parties.

After a day's contention between the parties interested in the case of the Platt—Barber Company against John G. Platt, former Secretary and Treasurer, charging embezzlement and misappropriation of funds to the extent of $168,000, it was settled Tuesday without coming to a court trial.

Ever since Monday noon the attorneys on both sides worked hard for a settlement of the case without subjecting Mr. Platt to the odium of a trial. In the settlement the District Attorney with held the indictment from the Grand Jury.

Platt pleaded guilty to the charges against him and gave his note to the Platt—Barber Company for $120,169.87, which is a compromise on the part of the firm The note will be at once entered as a judgment against Platt in both Centre and Clearfield Counties, in which it is said he has ample coal lands and operations to meet the judgment.—Phila Press.

—Rev. Frederick G. Gotwalt, of York, Pa., general secretary of the board of education, will preach in the Lutheran church Sunday morning and evening.

PROSPECTS OF PEACE

They Are Very Much Brighter Just Now

SETTLEMENT IS NEAR

Through Japan's Waiver of Indemnity and Ceding Portion of Island of Sakhalin.

LATEST PHASE OF SITUATION

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The Associated Press dispatch from Portsmouth declaring that President Roosevelt was authorized several days ago on behalf of Japan to waive all claim for indemnity or reimbursement for the cost of the war, and to cede back to Russia the northern half of the Island of Sakhalin, leaving the "redemption" price of it to the arbitration of a mixed commission, was received too late here Monday night to reach the general public, but its significance was instantly recognized in the quarters where it became known.

There is every reason to believe, judging from the official expressions persistently given out by the Foreign Office since the beginning of the negotiations at Portsmouth that this proposal by Japan to waive the question of indemnity goes far toward removing the last, and, according to official explanation, the only stumbling block in the way of peace.

The Foreign Office has said that every disputed point between Russia and Japan, with the exception of the payment of indemnity, had been practically arranged on a basis satisfactory to both sides, but that Russia would never pay an indemnity.

THINK STUMBLING BLOCK IS REMOVED.

If the latest proposals of Japan means that she waives all claims to indemnity of any kind or description giving up all idea of reimbursement for the expenses of the war in any guise whatsoever, and in place thereof is prepared to accept for the restoration to Russia of the northern half of Sakhalin, a redemption price is to be fixed by an unbiased commission, this price to be determined by the actual value of the island and not to take into account Japans war expenses or to carry a concealed indemnity to Japan, there is reason for the assertion that, in all probability, Japan's proposal was for the deduction, according to the Russian official statement, that the stumbling block to peace can be removed and that there ought to be a new and promising basis for the continuation of the negotiations.

Rifle Load of Water Brought Down Polly

A large African talking parrot owned by F. M. Bream, a letter carrier of Gettysburg, made its escape several days ago, and was not seen until Wednesday, when it was found on a tree in the Gettysburg college campus.

Bream stationed himself beneath the parrot, and by soft words and a liberal display of food, tried to persuade the truant bird to re-enter its cage. The parrot, instead of responding to the entreaties of his master, kept up a flow of side remarks which proved to the onlookers that his religious training in early life had been sadly neglected.

Bream, who is a noted rifle shot, finally hit upon a plan for capturing the bird. Having loaded his gun with a blank cartridge, he poured a wine glass of water in the barrel and fired.

The bird was stunned by the spray and easily captured, but the recoil of the gun was so terrific that the postman was hurled to the ground with a fractured nose.

Wreck on Bellefonte Central Railroad

Accommodation train on the Bellefonte Central railroad consisting of two box cars and one passenger coach while running between Pine Grove Mills and State College backwards was partially derailed Friday evening, owing to a spreading of the rails. One car was forced from the trucks and landed in a field, while another car and the engine left the tracks. None of the passengers or trainmen were injured.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

Drew an Immense Crowd to Philipsburg—Undine Fire Company Carries Off Honors.

Philipsburg firemen can congratulate themselves that their convention drew the biggest crowd to their town for years, if ever. It is safe to say that there were twelve thousand people in town Friday, for there were by actual count, 1008 uniformed men in line and there were certainly a dozen onlookers to every man in parade.

The town was a blaze of colors and banners bearing words of welcome spanned the streets.

The program opened Thursday at 1 o'clock with a convention at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John H. McSuley, Bellefonte; 1st vice president, C. L. Ammerman, Philipsburg; 2d vice president, W. H. Ross; Juniata; treasurer, R. M. Gochnour, Windber; secretary, W. C. Langsford, Houtzdale; representative to state convention, F. W. Grebe, Philipsburg; alternate, H. L. Morgan, Philipsburg.

Bellefonte was selected as the next place of meeting.

Base ball games between Morrisdale and Philipsburg at 10 and 3 drew big crowds out to Athletic park.

The Philipsburg fire department entertained the delegates at a fine banquet at Erb's restaurant at 9 o'clock, and a dance at Athletic Park wound up the first day.

A drenching rain Thursday night made the outlook for Friday a gloomy one, but about 8 o'clock it partly cleared and remained so all day. At 11 the parade formed and we can say without fear of contradiction that it was the finest ever seen here. There were 1008 uniformed men in line and both steamers belonging to Philipsburg's fire department. The town's lay-out of autos headed the procession, followed by carriages, the police force, the fire chiefs, twenty-two fire companies, twelve bands and the Darktown Fire company. The parade was twenty-five minutes in passing a given point.

The Undine company of Bellefonte, won the 1st prize for the best uniformed company and the most men in line, carrying off $50 in prize money.

The Fifth Regiment band, Clearfield, won first money, $25, for excellence.

Over two thousand people witnessed the races at the park in the afternoon.

Railroad Company Want no Cigarette Smokers.

That the dangers of cigarette smoking are fully realized by railroad officials is significant. The Sayre Evening News says that men or boys or anyone wanting employment as a railroader on the Pennsylvania division of the Lehigh Valley railroad had better stick their hands in their pockets when applying for jobs, to conceal the little yellow streaks, and further, had better say "no" when asked they smoke cigarettes.

Cigarette smokers have little streaks of yellow on their fingers that tell plainly of the nicotine that soaks through the thin cigarette paper. Trainmaster Neill knows this. He does not thinks that cigarette fiends make good railroaders. He believes that they are not as reliable as men not addicted to the "coffin nail" habit. When anyone applies to him for employment he looks them over thoroughly and then asks the first and all important question, "Do you smoke cigarettes?" If the answer is "yes," it is unnecessary to ask further questions. If the applicant says he does not smoke the white cigars, he is asked to show his fingers, and if they look like fingers that nature made, then the applicant will be asked further questions regarding his fitness as a railroader. But before the other questions are asked the applicant must prove to Mr. P. O'Neill that he is not a slave to a bundle of flimsy little papers and a bag of tobacco, commonly called "the making."

The proper thing for young men and boys addicted to the habit to do is quit smoking them. No doubt in the future it will become more and more difficult for the "slaves" to get positions.

New Methodist Hymnal.

Methodists will be interested in knowing that the new Methodist hymnal, in process of completion and publication for more than six years, will be ready for distribution by the first of September. Its preparation was authorized by the general conference of the two churchs in 1900 and within a few months there after the joint commission that was put in charge of the work had met, organized and began its task.

THE FACE ON THE FLOOR.

'Twas a balmy summer evening, and a goodly crowd was there
That well nigh filled Joe's bar-room on the corner of the square.
And as songs and witty stories came through the open door;
A vagabond crept slowly in and posed upon the floor.

"Where did it come from?" some one said, "The wind has blown it in."
"What does it want? another cried, some whiskey, beer or gin?"
"Here, Toby, seek him, if your stomach's equal to the work.
I would'ent touch him with a fork, he's as filthy as a Turk."

This badinage the poor wretch took with stoical good grace.
In fact he smiled as if he thought he'd struck the proper place.
"Come boys I know there's kindly hearts among so good a crowd;
To be in such good company would make a deacon proud.

'Give me a drink! That's what I want, I'm out of funds, you know,
When I had cash to treat the gang, this hand was never slow;
What? you laugh as if you thought this pocket never held a sou;
I once was fixed as well, my boys, as any one of you.

"There, thanks, that braced me nicely, God bless you, one and all,
Next time I pass this good saloon I'll make another call;
Give you a song? No, I can't do that, my singing days are past,
My voice is cracked, my throat's worn out and my lungs are going fast.

"Say, give me another whiskey and I'll tell you what I'll do
I'll tell you a funny story, and a fact, I promise, too;
That I was ever a decent man, not one of you would think,
But I was; some four or five years back, say, give us another drink.

"Fill her up Joe, I want to put some life into my frame—
Such little drinks to a man like me are miserably tame;
Five fingers—there, that's the scheme and corking whiskey, too,
Well, boys, here's luck, and landlord, my best regards to you.

"You've treated me pretty kindly and I'd like to tell you how
I came to be the dirty sot you see before you now;
As I tell you, once I was a man, with muscle, frame and health,
And, but for a blunder, ought to have made considerable wealth.

I was a painter, not one that daubed on brick and wood,
But an artist, and, for my age, was rated pretty good;
I worked hard at my canvas, and was bidding fair to rise,
For gradually I saw the star of fame before my eyes.

"I made a picture, perhaps you've seen 'tis called the Chase of Fame;
It brought me fifteen hundred pounds, and added to my name;
And then I met a woman—now comes the funny part—
With eyes that petrified my brain, and sunk into my heart.

"Why don't you laugh? 'Tis funny that the vagabond you see
Could ever love a woman and expect her love for me;
But 'twas so, and for a month or two her smile was freely given,
And when her loving lips touched mine it carried me to heaven.

"Boys, did you ever see a girl for whom your soul you'd give,
With a form like the Milo Venus, to beautiful to live.
With eyes that would beat the Kohinoor and a wealth of chestnut hair?
If so, 'twas she, for there never was another half so fair.

"I was working on a portrait one afternoon in May.
Of a fair-haired boy, a friend of mine who lived across the way.
And Madeline admired it, and much to my surprise,
Said that she'd like to know the man that had such dreamy eyes.

"It did'nt take long to know him, and before the month had flown,
My friend had stole my darling, and I was left alone;
And ere a year of misery had passed above my head,
The jewel I had treasured so had tarnished and was dead.

That's why I took to drink, boys. Why, I never saw you smile,
I thought you'd be amused and laughing all the while;

Why, what's the matter, friend? There's a tear-drop in your eye.
Come laugh like me, 'tis only babes and women that should cry.

"Say, boys, if you'll give me another whiskey I'll be glad,
And I'll draw right here, the picture of the face that drove me mad;
Give me that piece of chalk with which you mark the base ball score.
And you shall see the lovely Madeline upon the bar-room floor."

Another drink, and with the chalk in hand the vagabond began
To sketch the face that well might buy the soul of any man.
Then as he placed another lock upon the shapely head,
With a fearful shriek he leaped and fell across the picture—dead.

Pennsylvania Railroad Maintains Schedule.

During the month of July the Pennsylvania Special arrived in Chicago exactly on the minute of its schedule every day. The eastbound Pennsylvania Special arrived in New York on schedule time twenty-three years. The average detention on seven days was less than ten minutes, due entirely to conditions for which the train crew could not be held responsible. The greatest breach in the schedule was on July 14, when the Special was held up behind a freight wreck, which blocked all four tracks on the Middle Division, entailing a loss of two hours and twenty two minutes in the regular arriving time at New York.

It is difficult to find a match for this record. It demonstratee that the schedule has sufficient elasticity to take up any ordinary detentions which may occur between termini, and that even a faster regular schedule may be made should it be deemed wise. The fine condition of the roadbed, the efficient motive power and skillful operation all contribute to the ease with which the Special accomplishes its work.

Died from His Injuries.

Harvey Lewis, baggage master on the Tyrone division, who was seriously injured by falling from his baggage car near Rustic station on the Cambria and Clearfield branch Monday evening, never regained consciousness after his fall, and after lingering until 12:40 o'clock Wednesday afternoon he passed away at his home in Tyrone.

The deceased was born at Dix station and was aged 34 years, 2 months and 18 days. He had been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, on the Tyrone division, for ten or eleven years. For a short time he was a brakeman on the local freight train, but soon became a member of the passenger crews and won promotion to baggage master. He was a reliable, competent and popular employee.

Seven years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Hunter at Tyrone. They resided at Curwensville for three years, but for the past four years they have lived in Tyrone. The grief-stricken wife survives, together with three children, Helen, Esther and Paul. His father is dead, but his mother, Mrs. Ada Lewis, of Dix survives. He also leaves the following sisters and brothers: Lloyd, of Snow Shoe Intersection; Mrs. Emma Shultz, of Altoona; Dorsey, of Philipsburg, Walter, Lawrence, Mrs. James Weaver and Miss Minnie, of Tyrone; Nannie and Frances of Dix. He was a member of the P. R. R. Relief department.—Tyrone Herald.

Centre County's Peach Crop,

When the announcement was made a couple months ago that the Centre county peach crop this year would be large it was looked upon very much as a peach crop story, but now that the time is here when growers have begun to market their fruit there is no gainsaying the fact that the crop is a good one—especially large for this section. In fact one local dealer told the writer that the Centre county crop would aggregate forty thousand bushels over, while another dealer stated that fifteen thousand bushels would be the limit.

Be the crop that it may, however, it is large enough to attract the attention of outsiders, as ten days ago a representative of the fruit dealers' association came here from Pittsburg and endeavored to buy up all the orchards in the county. While he made the claim when he left that he succeeded in his undertaking it has been learned positively since that he did not secure one orchard. Col. Fred Reynolds' crop was bought by Jee Diehl, Howard. Platt, Barber & Co., have virtually secured the orchards of Boop & Keister, at Aaronsburg, while Charles Schad of this place; Dr. Alexander and W. B. Mingle, of Centre Hall; Dum, of Mackeyville, and all the other smaller growers in Centre county will market their own fruit, believing that they will be able to realize more out of it by retailing out at home and selling wholesale to local dealers than they would to sell their entire crop wholesale for foreign markets.

Some of the early fruit is already being marketed. One Johnstown dealer has negotiated with Joe Diehl for two thousand bushels of peaches from the Reynolds orchard, the first consignment of fifty bushels being shipped to him on Tuesday. Owing to the indiscrimate marketing of the fruit there has as yet been no set price named, but the best peaches can now be bought at about a dollar a bushel. The price is expected to be lower as the season advances.

A BOOM FOR PLEASANT GAP

Extensive Lime Operations to Start Monday.

One of the most reliable industries about Bellefonte these many years has been the development of extensive limestone operations. A valuable seam of limestone, at the base of the Muncy mountains, appears to extend along the northern side of Nittany valley. At numerous points it has been operated for years by individual owners. Here, at Bellefonte, the outcropping has been worked for a long time. In later years, the value of this seam has been recognized and for several miles up the Buffalo Run valley, down through Armor's Gap and at Salona extensive quarries have sprung into existence, giving employment to many hundreds of men and which monthly put thousands of dollars into circulation in this community.

This seam is said to be the purest and best quality of limestone found in this country. Its chemical analysis runs as high as 9; and over 99 per cent, pure lime, which makes it a valuable product in various manufacturing enterprises, such as paper mills, glass factories, tanneries, iron furnaces and other plants. Carloads of this famous lime are daily shipped from here far into the Mississippi valley, down South and up to the New England States. From the quarries also are produced large quantities of stone that is crushed by large breakers and is extensively used for railroad ballast, macadamizing and as a flux in iron furnaces throughout the state.

For some years past this vein of limestone came to the attention of L. A. Schaeffer, of Bellefonte, who carefully inspected the vein and traced it for miles up and down the valley, being able to locate it from what is known as McBride's Gap to the Perry Gentzel farm above Zion. On most of the properties he secured options and endeavored to interest capitalists for the purpose of exploiting the same. Numerous schemes were started with no success, options would expire and renewals became annoying to the owners. While Mr. Schaffer was working and planning, merchants William H. Noll, of Pleasant Gap, was also aware of the value of this seam, had been working along similar lines—as Mr. Schaffer discovered upon approaching him for an option on the Noll farm west of Pleasant Gap. The result of these movements attracted others, and as a result all the land lying between the two points McBrides Gap and Perry Gantzels has been eagerly sought the past few months, some was sold at prices and others covered by options.

Commencing at McBrides Gap, going eastward along the base of the mountain, the following properties are valuable on account of this seam cropping out almost 80 feet wide and assaying around 98 per cent. pure lime:

1—H. E. Zimmerman; 2—Woodward, sold to L. C. Rerick, with the limestone owned by the American Lime & Stone Co. 3—Catherine Speer farm. 4—Eph Keller, stone secured by Am. Lime & Stone Co. 5—Elizabeth Crotzer farm, stone secured by Wm. H. Noll. 6—Wm. H. Noll farm. Across the ravines next comes Ab. V. Miller, then the following Mary Valentine, Michael H. Spicher, Chas. Eckenroth, W. H. Coldren and the J. H. Herman. Mr. Schaffer holds options on most of the latter properties, some of which are in dispute, especially the Wm. H. Coldren, which the Bellefonte Lime Co. appears to be interested in, and it also controls the Charles Eckenroth farm.

The first company to begin operation will be the "Whitercock Quarries" who will operate the Noll and Crotzer farms west of Pleasant Gap. They applied for a charter last week, the promoters of which are Wm. H. Noll of Pleasant Gap, Noah H. Swayne, Supt. of the Nittany Furnace, John Blanchard Esq., of Bellefonte and others. They have contracted with T. A. Shoemaker to build a connection of about a mile to the Pa. R. R. Eighty men with carts will arrive there on Monday.

Large buildings are now being erected there for housing and boarding these men, who will commence work on next Monday. Stephen B. Finnegan, for years employed by the "Am. Lime & Stone Co." has resigned his position to accept the superintendency of this new operation.

Eight steel-cylinder wood burning kilns, stone crushers and other machinery have been contracted for and will be erected at once. Much of the stone from these quarries will be used by the Nittany Furnace, while the other products, the lime and crushed stone, have a good market secured elsewhere for he entire product.

Mr. Schaffer states that capitalists associated with him will have large works installed as soon as present legal difficulties are adjusted, which has interfered with and delayed their proposed plans.

Lamar Man Fosterfather to the Ruler of Nukuor.

Lamar, Aug. 24.—Isaac Loveland of this place claims the honor of being fosterfather to a king. Word came lately from his son, Arthur V. Loveland of Oberlin, O., that the boy he adopted about 10 years ago, who bears the name Lika Loveland, has been made king of his native island, Nukuor, one of the Caroline group. In a mission school on another island the lad was placed at 16 where he received a thorough education at his foster-father's expense, who has been greatly interested in his progress. A correspondence has been kept up between them ever since the boy learned to write, but he never hinted that he was likely to become the ruler of his people, until he was made king on his return, to succeed his mother who had been queen and had died just before her son's return. Mr. Loveland is so much pleased with his investment that he is ready to try another one of the same kind.

Robert Hendershot Arrested.

Robt. Hendershot, son of David Hendershot, was arrested, on Wednesday and placed in jail to await the arrival of officers to convey him to Bloomsburg where he was wanted on the charge of skipping a board bill and stealing the landlady's gold watch. Hendershot had been working in Bloomsburg and while there purloined the watch of the woman he was boarding with then skipped the town. He came home and went to Mr. Moerschbacher with whom he pawned the watch for three dollars. After he had gone out Mr. Moerschbacher examined the timepiece and decided that Hendershot had not gotten it honestly so when he came back in again he told him so and also advised him to life it and returned it to whom it belonged and save him from serious trouble.

Hendershot paid back $1 50 and promised to lift the watch Thursday. In the meantime, however, the police here had been notified and the young man was arrested before he got out of Jesse Cox' pool room. He was Thursday taken back to Bloomsburg to face the charges against him.

Horsemen vs. Autoists.

A meeting of horse owners was held in the office of E. R. Chambers, Monday evening, to take action relative to compelling owners and drivers of automobiles in this place to observe the restrictions of the law. Quite a number of people were present and, while there was no anger of antagonistic sentiment against automobiles displayed there was a feeling among all that something should be done, inasmuch as there are many complaints about the fast and sometimes reckless speeding of automobiles on the streets of Bellefonte as well as around short turns on the road ways through the country.

After the matter had been fully licensed Mr. Chambers volunteered to lay the matter before the borough council, which was then in session. Accordingly he went before that body and explained to them the law governing the running of automobiles as laid down in the act of 1903, which makes it the duty of the police in the boroughs and constables in the townships to arrest every owner and driver of an automobile who is running his machine at a speed exceeding eight miles in the borough or twenty miles in the township, or who has not in every other way complied with the regulations of the law. Council heard Mr. Chambers through but took no action on the matter at that time.

The act of 1903 provided that every owner of an automobile shall register with the prothonotary of said county, who shall issue to him a certificate of registry which shall be so fixed at some convenient place upon said machine that it can be plainly and readily seen by all. That he shall also have a license issued by the treasury of any county in the Commonwealth and that he shall exhibit on his machine two white lights in front and one red light in the rear, in addition to the speed limit regulations.

We have an important election this fall both in state and county, and every Republican should see to it that he is qualified to cast his ballot as the law requires, which cannot be done without being registered.

ROOSEVELT'S LATEST ACT

He Spent Some Time on Bottom of Sound IN TORPEDO BOAT.

It Was the Submarine Torpedo Boat Plunger and Remained Under Water 55 Minutes.

ENJOYED THE TRIP VERY MUCH.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., August 26.—President Roosevelt late Friday afternoon made a descent in Long Island Sound on board the submarine torpedo boat Plunger. He was aboard the vessel about three hours. At one time the little boat was submerged for fifty minutes and in that time was out through all of the submarine feats of which she is capable. The president expressed Friday night his delight at the novel experience and said that he was immensely impressed with the boat and the manner in which she was handled. In thus braving the dangers of submarine manoeuvring the president endeared himself to naval officers and men the world over and made Lieutenant Charles H. Nelson, commander of the Plunger, the proudest and happiest man in the United States navy.

The Plunger's commander explained to President Roosevelt the operations of the boat and assured him that a trip on her and descent into the depths of Long Island Sound would be as devoid of danger as would be a trip on a New York subway express train.

The president long has desired to watch the operations of a submarine torpedo boat at close range and, before this, would have made a trip in one had he not been deterred from taking the risk by the advice of his friends and official associates.

The trial took place off the entrance to Oyster Bay.

As soon as the president had descended into the boat the manholes were closed and convoyed by the naval tender Apache the Plunger started for the sound. A stiff northeast breeze kicked up a heavy sea but the Plunger behaved beautifully. Soon after the vessel reached the necessary depth of water she was directed downward until she rested on the bottom of the sound. Then the mechanism of the craft was explained minutely to the president by Lieutenant Nelson.

While the president thus was resting on the bottom of the sound in a submarine boat, a storm forty feet above him was raging unnoticed. The rain descended in torrents and the northeaster whipped the surface of the water into big rollers, but it was as quiet and peaceful where the president sat as a cozy parlor would be. Lieutenant Nelson began to put the boat through her paces. From the bottom purpoise diving was tried, that is, the boat would ascend to the surface of the sound for several seconds and then dive again immediately. After this manoeuvre had been repeated a few times the Plunger was sent down a distance of twenty feet below the surface and her engines stopped. Lieutenant Nelson made his boat perform the remarkable feat of diving to a depth of twenty feet and while going at full speed at that depth, reversing her course. The complete turn occupied only one minute. Nelson ordered all light on board to be extinguished to demonstrate how thoroughly the members of his crew knew their business. They worked perfectly in the inky darkness.

During the operations of the Plunger the tender Apache remained within a short distance, prepared to render any assistance that might be necessary. The president shook hands with all the crew as he left the vessel to return to Sagamore Hill.

The Simple Life.

President Roosevelt says: "I commend this book to the nation."

Beyond question, the most talked-of-book today, whether in the pulpit or out of it, is "The Simple Life," by Rev. Charles Wagner. It has caught the nation like wild-fire, and is constantly alluded to everywhere, backed by the endorsement of public men, literary critics and the press. President Roosevelt preaches it to his countrymen. The well-known publishers of popular-priced books, Hurst & Co., 395-399 Broadway, New York, have just issued a tasty edition, which they will mail to everyone sending 35c. This firm will also forward a complete catalogue of books upon request.

CAMPAIGN IS OPENED

Scene of Activity at the Republican State Headquarters.

ANDREWS RUNS UP THE FLAG

Opposition's Forces Are Divided Over Bitter Rows Among Democrats and Prohibitionists.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.

The headquarters of the Republican state committee were formally opened this week, and the campaign for the election of the Republican state ticket has been inaugurated under the most favorable conditions.

A large force of clerks have been put to work, and a staff of stenographers are kept busy until late every night turning out the heavy mail, to which Chairman Wesley R. Andrews gives personal attention.

Owing to the fact that the preliminary work of the canvass was started unusually early this year, matters are in shape to begin active and strenuous campaigning without interruption of any kind.

"We have run up our flag, we have our forces thoroughly organized, we are prepared for a sharp and aggressive campaign and we have not the slightest doubt about the outcome," declared Colonel Andrews, as he sat at his desk at the state headquarters. "We are confronted by the same old enemy," he continued, "although a desperate attempt is being made to make it appear otherwise, and we intend to administer one of those same old lickings which we have been giving them as they confront us at the polls year after year. The Republican ticket will be triumphant this fall as usual, and the majorities will be quite up to the average for an off-year campaign."

Fusion Game Fails.

The Democrats and their insurgent Republican allies have been making a play for a fusion campaign in Pennsylvania this fall, but they have not been successful in their efforts. While they did get the Democrats to put Justice Stewart, the Republican nominee, on their ticket for the supreme court nomination, this act was not only pleasing to the stalwart Republicans because it demonstrated the wisdom of their action in nominating Justice Stewart, but also because it has disrupted the Democracy.

There are thousands of Democrats who will not vote for a Republican under any circumstances. They always resent the placing of a Republican on the Democratic ticket. When this is done they generally remain away from the polls. If they do not do that, they vote for the Democrats on their ticket and cut the Republicans who may be put on their ticket to encourage fusion schemes.

This year the Democracy, what is left of it, in Pennsylvania is in a very bad way. They not only have a Republican, Justice Stewart, at the head of their ticket, but they also have a Prohibitionist, W. H. Berry, running for state treasurer. There are already being organized anti-Berry Democratic clubs by old-line Democrats who cannot stand for a Prohibitionist. Democrats of the Jacksonian school in counties like Schuylkill, Berks, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Westmoreland, Northampton, Pike, Carbon and elsewhere resent the nomination of Prohibitionist Berry and propose to assert themselves at the coming election by voting for J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer.

They intend that James M. Guffey, the "boss" of the state Democracy, shall be taught a lesson at the coming election, and that it shall be impressed upon him that he cannot command the Democrats of Pennsylvania to vote for either Republicans or Prohibitionists to serve his own selfish purposes. They say that if they are to vote for any candidates other than Democrats they reserve to themselves the right to select such candidates themselves. Democratic leaders, they argue, are chosen to elect Democrats to office, not Prohibitionists or members of any other party.

A Pretty Fight, This.

This is a pretty fight that has sprung up among the Democrats. It not only disgusts the Democratic leaders, but it is a supreme disappointment to the sorehead Republicans or so-called insurgents who had hoped that the Democrats would be united in support of Berry, whose campaign they have been counting upon to help them in their local factional games in several counties in which they are fighting the regular Republican nominees.

With the Democracy hopelessly divided over their state ticket, and with a number of Democratic county leaders up in arms against Guffey's bossism, there can be no effective fusion campaigning in any county in the state this fall.

The Prohibition state convention, with its sensational scenes over the brutal tactics resorted to in the scheming resulting in the nomination of Berry for state treasurer, furnishes additional cause for alarm and chagrin among the fusion conspirators. When they succeeded in landing Guffey for the nomination of Berry by the Democratic state convention, the next move was to hunt for delegates among the Prohibitionists. Through insurgent Republican influences in this city, the Philadelphia delegation to the Prohibition state convention was lined up for Berry, and this, with other delegations under like control, gave the nucleus for a Berry movement in the Williamsport Prohibition state convention were not anticipated, and the large vote polled against his nomination was a complete surprise to the fusion crowd.

Since the adjournment of the Williamsport convention, hundreds of the most prominent and influential Prohibitionists in the state have publicly declared that they will not vote for Berry for state treasurer, and others have gone so far as to announce that this year they are going to vote the full Republican ticket.

Berry's Coat of Many Colors.

They say they have not renounced the cause of Prohibition, but they look upon Berry as an office-seeking jobber, who has successively espoused the cause of free silver, Bryanism, free trade, Parkerism, and now is a Prohibitionist, and no one knows what next he will advocate in order to land in a fat state office. A large majority of Prohibitionists of Pennsylvania sympathize with Republicanism, aside from their views on the prohibition of the liquor traffic. If they cannot get sincere and loyal Prohibitionists to vote for, the chances are that they will support the Republican nominees.

There has been much indignation expressed at the manipulations by the Democratic and insurgent Republican leaders which resulted in the indorsement of Berry at Williamsport, and the returns at the coming election are bound to show a falling off of the Prohibition vote for the candidate for state treasurer.

Meanwhile, with the Democrats and the Prohibitionists at odds over the selection of Berry, the Republicans throughout the state are supporting their candidate for state treasurer, J. Lee Plummer, with enthusiasm, and his election by an overwhelming majority is confidently predicted by State Chairman Andrews.

STALWARTS ARE TRUE

Republicans Lined Up Loyally For Their Party Nominees.

DEMOCRATIC GAMES EXPOSED

Guffey and His Outfit Have Not the Confidence of the Voters of the State.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Aug. 29.

It is a noteworthy fact that in the campaign now under way in Pennsylvania the Republican newspapers, without exception, are loyally supporting the nominees on the state ticket. There are a few so-called insurgent sheets that are working along their well-worn lines in support of the Democratic candidates, but these journals are no longer regarded as being in sympathy with the Republican party. They have been so long assailing Republican nominees in the interest of the Democracy that they are now classed as out and out Democratic adherents.

On the other hand, the recognized Republican newspapers are all heartily for the Republican ticket.

Neighbor of Plummer Speaks.

The editor of the Altoona Morning Tribune, in commenting upon the Democracy's program, among other things, says:

"They hope to elect their candidate for state treasurer this year, and by means of the enthusiasm thus created to open the way for a vigorous campaign for the election of a Democratic governor and a lot of Democratic congressmen. Yet, in spite of their vague talk, there is nothing about the administration of the state government which they could better. Every department is being vigorously and carefully administered in the public interest by honest men. The state treasury is open always to the inspection of the citizens of the state, and even the Pharisee whom the Democrats have nominated for state treasurer did not dare bring an accusation against the present incumbent.

"There is not a human being, friend or foe who knows J. Lee Plummer and the state would be sacredly guarded while in his custody. His entire life has been spent in this county, and the only charge his worst enemies can bring against him is that he is a stalwart Republican and that all his life he has supported Republican measures and voted for Republican candidates. He believes in the Republican party and he has adhered to it with all the enthusiasm of a patriotic nature from his boyhood up. It is preposterous, therefore, to suppose that the Republican rank and file will vote for Mr. Plummer's Democratic opponent because the situation is not what it ought to be in Philadelphia or because the Democrats, making a virtue of political chicanery, have nominated the Republican candidate for justice of the supreme court for the same office.

"Judge Stewart need not flatter his soul that his pre-eminent ability as a jurist, his stainless character as man or his reputation for political independence, moved Mr. Guffey to the action which he prompted his convention to take. Oh, no; it was simply the desperate hope that this bit of down right demagoguery might bring some independent Republicans into the Democratic camp and thus swell the vote [illegible] efficiency of our state government and of the Republican purpose to grant everything desired by a majority of the people, we do not think Mr. Guffey's scheme will work out into a brilliant success."

A Strong Ticket.

"The Republican state ticket is a thoroughly good one from top to bottom, and should receive a hearty indorsement at the polls," says the editor of the Warren (Pa.) Mail. "Every man on it is well qualified for the position he seeks, and every Republican should give him loyal, earnest support."

THE STATE TREASURERSHIP

Republican Nominee As Viewed By An Editor From His Home County.

In commenting upon the contest for state treasurer, the editor of the Hollidaysburg Register says:

"Hon. J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, has the ability to fill that office with credit. This fact cannot be successfully contradicted; besides, he is known by the people with whom he has lived all his life to be perfectly honest and reliable and a man of the strictest integrity. While not a Prohibitionist, he is a man of the strictest temperance habits. These are facts which cannot be controverted. He was regularly nominated in a Republican state convention, composed of delegates who were chosen by the Republicans of the various counties of the state.

"There was every opportunity for any man in the state to contest the nomination with him. He was nominated fairly as the candidate of his party. Now, what Republican can have a valid excuse to vote against him? Is it better that the Republicans assist a Democrat into one of the best offices of the state, or vote for their candidate, who is in every way worthy? The opposition is trying hard to raise a respectable fight against him, but the only possible show they will have will be through the votes of Republicans. Why should we aid them in their work?"

A Word to State Republicans.

"The Republican party is not responsible for the misuse that has been made of it in Philadelphia," says the editor of the Juniata Herald. "The truth is that it deserves credit for correcting the wrongs that have been committed by some of its faithless members. The corruption that has existed in Philadelphia is wholly of a local character and the party in the state has no connection with or relation to it. Why should the party elsewhere suffer on account of it? Why should state candidates be defeated because of what has occurred in a single city? If the sins of a few were to be visited upon the party when could it ever be successful? The Republican ticket is composed of honest men, was fairly nominated and is entitled to the support of every member of the party. Be sure to vote for it."

Sufferings Were Protracted and Severe —Tried Every Known Remedy Without Relief—Serious Stomach Trouble Cured by Three Bottles of Peruna!

Capt. W. W. Jackson, 705 G St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"Some years ago I was seriously affected with catarrh of the stomach. My sufferings were protracted and severe. I tried every known remedy without obtaining relief.

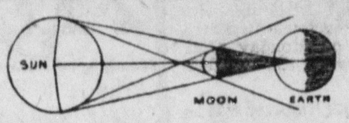
OLD SOL'S TOTAL ECLIPSE



Awe Inspiring Phenomenon as the Moon Obscures the Sun—Path of Eclipse Will Reach From Manitoba to Persia — Its Flight Across the Atlantic Like a Cannon Ball's

The Corona a Thing of Weird Beauty — Many Expeditions on Way to Advantageous Points of Observation—Views to Be Taken by Automatic Photographic Telescopes

IT is not every year that can afford the luxury of a solar eclipse. For that reason, if for no other, 1905 can crow over her less fortunate neighbors. Long will she be remembered, at least by the astronomers, for a total eclipse of the sun is a thing that the astronomers literally go miles to see. For the purpose of observing the one that occurs on the 30th of August they are going thousands of miles, in fact. Some of them are traveling to Labrador, some to Spain, some to northern Africa and some even to Egypt. Not only so, but they are to take with them much finer apparatus than was ever before used for a like purpose. There will be a number of expeditions from the United States and others from every leading nation of Europe. Old Sol will have so many telescopes pointed at him that day that there is no wonder he will hide h's face behind the moon. He is too old to be particularly modest, but such persistent staring would disconcert even the most ancient.

The scientists, on their part, expect to find out things. For example, they anticipate learning whether there is really a planet inside of Mercury or not. That little world has been doing eccentric things that have led some to believe that there is another little world still nearer the sun, pulling at her orbital skirts, as it were. Two astronomers out in Colorado said they actually saw such a world. But others doubt it. Now is the chance to see for themselves.

A Solar Mystery.

Then the corona is something of a solar mystery. Some have thought it a substance and have named it coroneum. Others have regarded it as only a phenomenon of light. Whatever its scientific constitution, it is a thing of weird beauty. Sometimes its streamers shoot out for millions of miles. At others it is star shaped. Then it runs like a rim of fire about the shadow of the moon. It is only visible at the time of a total eclipse; hence the anxiety of the astronomers to photograph it and study it at their leisure.

Practically all the instruments used this year will be photographic telescopes. The sensative plate is much more reliable than the human eye. Not only so, but these photographic telescopes have been arranged to work automatically. One would not suppose that a cold blooded scientist would have ordinary human emotions. Perhaps some of them have not. It is related of one well known astronomer, who had headed many eclipse expeditions, that he never had time to see an eclipse he was so busy "observing them." But this is not true of others. So marvelous is the phenomenon that the scientist is forgotten in the man, who stands gazing in open eyed and open mouthed wonder. As the eclipse only lasts about three minutes—that is, in its totality, every second must be utilized; hence automotic machinery has been devised that would not be stopped by anything less sensational than an earthquake.

Secretary Shaw Interested.

Two notable expeditions will go from the United States. One of these is from the naval observatory at Washington. This will establish three stations, one in Labrador, one in Spain and one probably in northern Africa. The famous Lick observatory of California will also have three stations, one in Labrador, one in Spain and the third at Assouan, Egypt. In addition to these will be many smaller expeditions from various observatories in the country. Congress made an appropriation for the naval observation, and Secretary Shaw lent it his assistance. Root is now in Labrador, and it is believed he is on the ground for the purpose of viewing the eclipse.

Outside of the Americans Canada will send an expedition to Labrador, as will also the governor of Newfoundland, who is something of a scientific bug himself. Then England will have several bunches of observers out, as also will Germany. It is not stated that the kaiser will attend any of these, though how he can let such an opportunity pass is more than the ordinary man can understand. He has done pretty much every other stunt, and why not an eclipse?

From Manitoba to Persia.

The path described by the total eclipse will reach from Manitoba to Persia. It will start at sunrise in the western Canadian province, thence will sweep eastward at the rate of 2,000 miles an hour across the British dominions, will cross Labrador, will speed like a cannon ball over the Atlantic, crossing Spain about noon; thence across the Mediterranean it will skirt northern Africa, gradually diminishing its speed as it approaches the equator, and thence across Egypt it will disappear at sunset in Persia.

The path of the total eclipse will be about 167 miles wide, and its duration at a given point will be three minutes and forty-five seconds. It will require quick work to take the required number of photographs in this brief time, but the astronomers are prepared for lightning-like execution. The United States naval observatory has been getting ready for two years. There is one sixty foot telescope to be used and others almost as large. On one of the instruments is a new style of lens that is considered an improvement over any lens ever used in a telescope before. There will be all sorts of timing apparatus. The photographic telescopes will be run by clockwork in such a way as not only to overcome the motion of the sun, but to throw the image at all times on a given stationary point.

Most Startling Phenomenon.

Even to the lay mind the phenomenon of a total eclipse is one of the most startling and spectacular in nature. As the deep, purple shadow approaches it looks like a palpable, substantial presence, rushing over the earth like some awful visitation from on high. No wonder the phenomenon in all ages has aroused the superstitious terror of the people. In the middle ages it was regarded as a sign of the end of the world. In all times it has been looked upon as an emblem of divine wrath. Savages have often been brought to subjection by white men who accurately foretold the coming of an eclipse. Even Columbus did not scruple to awe the natives into submission by such means, only he had to be contented with the milder spectacle of an eclipse of the moon.

Spectacle of a Lifetime.

The semidarkness on the earth has quite as much effect on birds and animals as on men. Chickens go to roost, while the rest of the brute creation, at first confused by the false night, finally seek their rest, only to be routed out a few minutes later by the gradually returning light. In the heavens the spectacle is one to be remembered a lifetime. Stars rush out suddenly, only to be swallowed up again as the moon's shadow passes. But the sun is never entirely blotted out. As though despising the comparatively little body that obscures him, he projects about it a circle of fire that now shoots out its streamers into space and This corona often seems like an aurora borealis in midheaven. It has been a mystery to scientists, and it is to solve this mystery that such expensive and laborious preparations have been made for the present solar event.

The partial eclipse may be seen for a distance of about 2,000 miles on either side of the belt traversed by the complete shadow. It is the partial eclipse that will be visible in the United States. In the extreme west it will probably not be seen at all, or at least only for a very short while at sunrise. In the central portions of the country it may be observed for a longer time, still at sunrise. In the east it will be visible shortly after sunrise. At New York, for example, the sun rises at 5:24 on Aug. 30, and the partial eclipse is scheduled to appear at 5:52 and will remain till 7:30. It will be necessary to be up with the early birds and early worms to enjoy the spectacle.

One of the most interesting phenomena of the partial eclipse is the disk shaped patches of sunlight that shine through the leaves of trees. It is a law of light that when passing through an interstice its shape is similar to that of the body from which it proceeds. Moonlight is scarcely strong enough to reveal this effect, but when the sun is shadowed into a crescent the result is startlingly apparent.

Chinese as Eclipse Predicters.

It has not always been possible to predict eclipses so accurately as at present. There has been some sort of attempt in that line from time immemorial, but in the old days the solar prophets, like some others, came to grief. Nowadays we do not kill the weather forecaster who goes astray in his predictions, however much we should like to do so, but in other times the mistaken foreteller of things to come did not get off so easily. There is a story of two Chinese astronomers, named Hi and Ho, who failed to predict an eclipse, and, as a consequence, when the sun refused to give his light, the people, the emperor along with the rest, were scared into a blue funk. The royal nerves were so racked, in truth, that their possessor concluded that his state of nervousness should be shared by the two astronomers, whereat he notified them that he would have their heads chopped off as soon as the executioner got around to them.

Warned by their sad fate, another Chinese astronomer thought he would be on the safe side and predicted two eclipses that never came off. He was promptly imprisoned by the then reigning emperor, but neatly got out of it by writing a book wherein he set forth that the eclipses would have come along on schedule time except that the virtues of the emperor so appealed to the divinities that rule such matters that the said divinities had the affair postponed, wherein we see that the Chinaman is a natural diplomat.

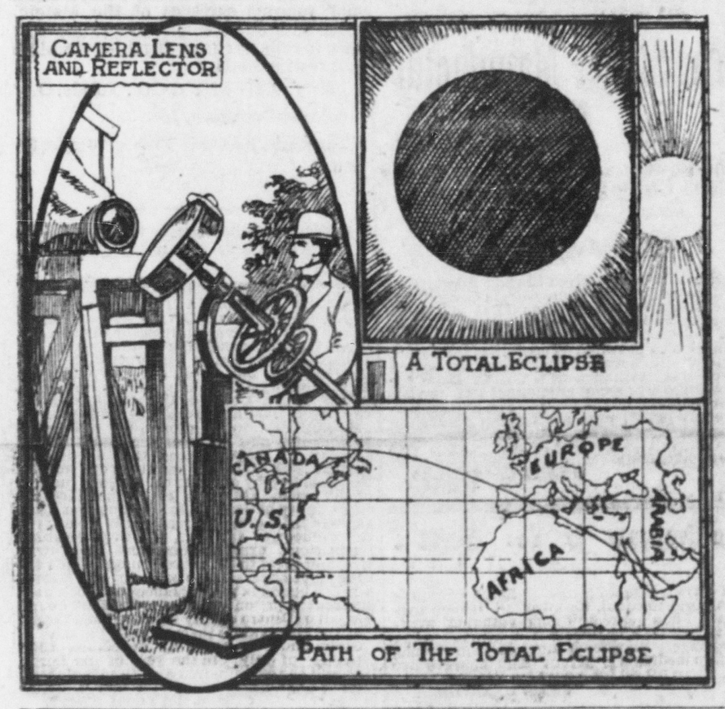
SECTIONAL VIEW OF THE CORONA.



The Peculiar Business of the Farmer Who Raises Them.

"I raise flies on my farm—artificial flies," he said, smiling. "I am, in fact, an artificial fly farmer.

"That confuses you, doesn't it? Yet it is simple enough. I raise birds that give those little delicate bright feathers that compose fishermen's flies. That is all.

"The finest birds I raise are golden pheasants. You have seen salmon flies? You know their beautiful toppings? Well, those toppings can only be got from the golden pheasant's crest.

"At a certain time of the year I gather my golden pheasants around me. I take one between my knees. I pluck out his crest. How mad he gets! I wrap the crest in silver paper. And so I go on till every bird has been plucked. Do you know what I get for these crests? I get $2.50 apiece for them.

"I raise mynahs, finches, mallards, jays and green parrots. I supply ten fly makers with all the feathers they can use."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Yellow Calla Lily.

A Santa Rosa (Cal.) letter says that one of the prettiest of Luther Burbank's floral creations which is just attaining perfection is a yellow calla lily. In coloring the blooms range from light lemon to a deeper orange shade of yellow. Burbank first obtained the specimens, which have a slight yellow coloring, from Africa. These are difficult to grow, as the bulb decays. He then crossed them with a hardy dwarf calla and increased the richness of the yellow coloring until he has produced wonderful results.

The little creature which bears the distinction of owning more legs and feet than any other known organized being is the milleped, which literally means "thousand footed." There are several species of these curious worms, all possessing the characteristic of having a many segmented body, each segment provided with a pair of legs. Unlike the centipeds—"hundred footed"—they are perfectly harmless.

FRANCE WILL TAKE ACTION

Plans to Coerce Sultan of Morocco.

MINISTERS MEET.

Instructions to be Sent to the French Minister at Fez to Inform the Minister.

IMMEDIATE REDRESS NECESSARY.

Paris, August 24.—The ministers under the presidency of Premier Rouvier held a lengthy special session Thursday. It was principally devoted to a consideration of the disciplinary measures to be taken against Morocco should the Sultan not yield to the demands of the government for redress for the recent arrest of a Franco-Algerian citizen. An official communication says that unanimous approval was given to the instructions to be sent to the French Minister at Fez, St. Rene Taillander, and to the subsequent action to compel the Sultan to give complete satisfaction.

The nature of this action is not disclosed, but it is known that it contemplates the military occupation of a Moroccan town near the Algerian frontier, probably Oudjda, owing to its proximity to a large French garrison in Algeria, and to its strategetic position as commanding the route to the interior of Morocco and the capital, Fez.

The latest official advices from Fez show that the Sultan continues to hold the Algerian a prisoner. The communication does not refer to the peace negotiations although it is understood that the ministers informally discussed the general prospects of peace. Following the meeting Premier Rouvier sent instructions to the French Minister to demand the immediate release of the prisoner informing him that a military demonstration would be made in case of a negative response.

Later it was announced that the ministers had decided that in case Morocco refused the French demand the entire personnel of the French legation would leave Morocco simultaneously with the military demonstration.

The Foreign Office expects with confidence that the Sultan will yield before the military operations begin. His response is not expected before next week, when the final decision will be taken concerning the military expedition. All the leading powers have approved the determination and firm action of the French government.

MALAY PROAS.

The Way These Peculiar Boats Are Built and Fitted Out.

Great fleets of Malay vessels go into the sea south of Borneo each year to fish for trepang, or sea slugs, which are esteemed a great delicacy in China and other Asiatic countries. A British government official writes: "The proas are peculiar looking concerns and present a most clumsy appearance. The hull is of wood, and the top, sides, deck, roof and yards are made of bamboo, the sails of matting and many of the ropes and hawsers of plaited cane. They are steered by two rudders, one on either side of the stern. Some of them carry iron anchors, others wooden ones, with heavy stones lashed to them. Often when the anchor is let go a man is sent down to see that it is properly fixed in good holding ground. The mast is a peculiar concern, being formed of wood or bamboo, having two stays, so that in appearance it resembles a lengthy trident, the spaces between the masts and stays being fitted with wooden steps, on which the sailors stand to hoist and roll up the sail, which unrolls again by a simple contrivance like a window blind.

"When you go on board a proa you go over the bow, that being close to the water's edge, the stern being away up in the air. You then climb a beam and step across an opening to the deck in front of the captain's cabin, which is situated on one side of the bow, a similar one being on the opposite side for the second in command. The deck is of split bamboo, worked together with wire or fiber, and can be rolled up at pleasure. The entrance to the cabins is about 2 feet by 2 feet 6 inches. Of course to enter or leave you must go on your hands and knees. Inside there is room for a man to sit or lie down in. The stern, which is high up, has several small rooms, or holes, like a great pigeon house, and in these and on top of the cargo the crew lives, the galley being a large iron pan with a quantity of sand in it to light the fire on.

"Proas have a sort of bowsprit rigged out and sometimes carry two or three headsails. On top of the houses they carry plenty of spare bamboos and rattans, which they get at the island of Kissa, near Timor, on the way down."

A Bit of Translation.

The difficulty of avoiding "howlers" when one is translating from English into such a language as that of the Micmac Indians of Nova Scotia must be very great, says the London News. We hear from the Bible society of a curious case. In the first edition of St. Matthew in Micmac the translator found when he came to revise it that in chapter xxiv, 7, instead of "Nation shall rise against nation," he had written, "A pair of snowshoes shall rise up against a pair of snowshoes." And yet there was only one letter misprinted—naooktukumiksijik (a nation), having been displaced by naooktakumiksijik (a snowshoe).

Spare Moments.

Chancellor D'Aguesseau, observing that his wife always delayed ten or twelve minutes before she came down to dinner and reluctant to lose so much time daily, began the composition of a work which he prosecuted only while thus kept waiting. At the end of fifteen years a book in three quarto volumes was completed, which ran through three editions and was held in high repute.

Reasonable Request.

Judge—Have you anything to say before I pass sentence upon you? Bank Wrecker—Yes. Don't the rules allow you to take out time from my sentence equal to the length of that miserable speech my lawyer made?—Cleveland Leader.

Simple.

She—Miss Stiffy had always vowed she would never marry. How did she happen to change her mind? He—Why, some one proposed.—Detroit Free Press.

Uses For Brushes.

Tops of fruit jars clean easily if soaked for a time in sour milk. Like any number of things, they are more easily washed with a small scrubbing brush than with a cloth. In fact, the modern woman keeps a variety of brushes hanging by her sink with which to wash jars, bottles, milk jugs and pressed glass, as well as the more expensive cut glass, and many a fastidious woman seldom puts her hands in the washing water, finding little mops and brushes more economical as well as daintier than trying to keep the hands in good condition with lotions and creams.—Pilgrim.

Plate Glass.

When plate glass has become slightly scratched clean its surface with a pad of cotton wool; then cover the pad with a piece of cotton velvet dipped in fine rouge and polish the glass, thus removing the scratches and improving the luster of the glass itself.

The Wall Street Way.

Jobson—You bought the stock on your broker's advice, didn't you? Dobson—Yes; he gave me four excellent reasons why it should go up. Jobson—What has he to say now? Dobson—He has given me four equally good reasons why it went down.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

—Good fortune has come to Simon Neyhart of Snow Shoe Intersection, in the form of a $15,000 legacy left him by a rich old aunt who died recently in Iowa. The pleasantest part of it all was the fact that Mr. Neyhart hadn't the remotest expectation of the sort and knew absolutely nothing of his good fortune until a relative whom he hadn't seen for years called to apprise him of it. He is the mail carrier at Wingate and being a poor man it is a blessing indeed.

GERM DISEASE OF SUMMER.

No one Need Fear Sickness if Mi-o-na is Used.

It is the person with a weak stomach who first falls victim to the germ diseases of summer

People with strong stomach and natural digestion are ordinarily not subject to bowel troubles, diarrhoea, and other germ diseases that are so common and dangerous in the summer months.

A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will give such health and strength to the weakest stomach that the whole system will become strong and well, and so clean and sweet that there will be no chance for disease germs to become active. Mi-o-na acts directly upon the whole digestive system, soothing and healing the inflamed stomach lining, strengthening the nerves of the solar-plexus, and building up good flesh, firm muscle, and perfect health.

A great many people imagine that there headaches, dizziness, heart burn, or general despondency and weakness is a sign of fatal illness, when the whole trouble is the direct result of a weak stomach and impefect digestion. A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na tabtets will show by the great gain in health that the stomach is the cause of the poor health, and that Mi-o-na is the only remedy that will drive out all weakness debility, and disease.

Mi-o-na is so nearly infallible in curing the diseases resulting from a weakened stomach excepting cancer, of the stomach, that—a—guarantee to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.

—John G. Jones, a caterer at the Tombs Prison, is after Nan Patterson's scalp. Jones' ire has been aroused by a missing rabbit's foot. According to Jones he was for a long time possessor of a charm of marvelous powers that brought freedom to anyone accused of murder. In the natural order of events the charm came into the hands of Bertha Claiche, who is awaiting trial, is pining away for want of it, and he has consulted a lawyer who contemplates getting out a writ of habeas corpus for the charm.

—The road authorities of Summer Hill township, Cambria Co., have made two miles of state road connecting the boroughs of South Fork and Summer Hill at a cost of ten thousand dollars. The road was paved with stone placed on edge this covered with a thick coat of crushed stone and rolled with a steam roller. Erie Co. last year built seven miles of state aid road at a cost of three thousand dollars per mile. As the legislature last winter amended the Good Roads law so that the township pays only one twelfth of the cost of construction and the county one-twelfth while the state pays the five-sixth it is time Centre county would get a bump on and begin to improve her roads. A minister remarked to the writer that he had traveled on circuits in twenty-eight counties of Pennsylvania and that Centre county had the worst roads of them all.

—An Altoona merchant, George O. Dilling, found an inhabited squirrels' nest in a bunch of bananas which he had purchased from a wholesale fruit dealer. As he was cutting the bunch into small quantities he came across a nest in which were four small squirrels, each about three inches in length, and the mother. The small animals, which are of the species of the squirrel which abound in the tropical regions, had evidently made the nest in the bunch of bananas before the fruit had ripened. Mr. Dilling has caged the animals and will have them on exhibition in the near future.

—A betrothal made in 1861, when a young soldier went to fight in the Civil War, was fulfilled Friday, when Levi F. Werner and Miss Sarah Zellner, of Allentown, were married by Rev. I. F. Heisler. Each is 68 years old. Werner answered Lincoln's call for troops, leaving his fiancee behind. When he returned he found she had been married to another. He said it was just as well, for his health had been shattered by a bullet in the leg, and he remained single. Mrs. Zellner's husband, a well-to-do farmer, died several years ago, leaving her comfortably provided for. She and the veteran resumed their friendship, and a wedding resulted.

—State Zoologist Surface is trying to bring about a duel between a blacksnake and a copperhead snake for the purpose of testing the theory that blacksnakes kill poisonous reptiles Dr. Surface received a blacksnake and a copperhead snake Wednesday and immediately placed both reptiles in a box five feet long and four feet deep. As yet their surroundings are so new and so utterly unlike what they have been used to that neither has mustered sufficient courage to commence an attack. If the blacksnake kills the copperhead, Dr. Surface believes he will be justified in accepting the theory that the rattler is also killed by the blacksnake, as the copperhead is more venomous than the rattler.

—The railroad clerks in Washington are puzzling their brains over a new problem which they claim is a better one than the "How old is Ann?" problem says the Baltimore Sun. It is known as the Gladys, West Virginia, problem where it had its origin. Here it is: "A train one mile long starts from the station of Gladys. The engine leaves the station and the conductor waits, until the caboose comes. He jumps on the caboose and walks forward over the train. When the engine reaches the next station, Oxley, four miles distant from Gladys, the conductor steps off the engine. How far does the conductor ride, and how far does he walk?

—During the farmers local institute held in Centre Hall last winter R L Watts, a graduate of State College, entertained the audience telling how he made truck farming pay. He runs a truck farm between Johnstown and Windber and keeps two teams busy hauling his produce to the former city and a visit to his extensive truck patches will convince anyone that he did not over state the facts in his lecture. The farmers of Penns valley could have as good market for their apples, potatoes and other produce as Mr Watts has said if they would compel the road making authorities to put the road across the Seven mountains in good order and thus give them the benefit of the Burnham and Lewistown markets.

APPOINTED JUDGE.

Rev. John A. Wood's Son Highly Honored.

J. Perry Wood, who is a son of Rev. J. A. Wood Jr, of this place, has just been appointed a Police Judge at Pasadena, California, where he resides. It will be remembered that he visited Bellefonte a short time ago, just after the death of his brother Gilbert.

The Los Angeles Examiner of August 20th published a picture of Mr. Wood and the following article:

Pasadena Aug. 19.—J. Perry Wood was named for police judge by Mayor Waterhouse this morning and his nomination was confirmed by the Council without a dissenting vote. Mr. Wood's nomination was exclusively predicted in the "Examiner" this morning and comes as a considerable surprise to the politically wise ones. Judge Wood is but 26 years of age and is a graduate of the Law School at Yale University. He is also a graduate of Dickinson College in Pennsylvania and at both institutions was an athlete of national reputation, having taken many an intercollegiate sprint. Mr Wood at first declined to accept the place, but later consented when Mayor Waterhouse told him that it was his civic duty to take the office. He will be sworn in on Monday.

Mr. Wood is twenty-six years of age and has practiced law in Pasadena for two years. He graduated from Yale in the law department in 1902 and from Dickinson College in 1900, and has been admitted to practice both in Connecticut and California. While in college and university he made a splendid reputation as an athlete, particularly strong in track work and sprinting. He has built up for himself in this city a very nice practice and has offices in the block in which are located the offices of the Pasadena National Bank.

Mr. Wood's father resides at Bellefonte, Pa., and is a minister of the Methodist church in that city.

Mr. Wood is in Los Angeles today, having a case in the Superior Court, and he will not be back in time to take the oath of office. For this reason his first day as Police Judge will be next Monday.

"You Die," She Truly Said.

Chester, Aug. 26.—Lucien Webster, 23 years old, died Wednesday in the Chester hospital from injuries received at Prospect park by being crushed between a parlor car and the station platform. Webster was the only male member of the St. Louis Stars, an aggregation of female ball players who have been touring the country. His home is at Campbellville, Ky.

The Stars played Tuesday at Prospect park and Webster had a little tilt with Miss Robinson, the girl who plays at first base. In the excitement she is alleged to have predicted that he would die in an accident before another day had passed.

Wednesday morning the organization was boarding a parlor car to come to this city and play the Chester club when the accident occurred that resulted in his death a few hours later. Webster was making some repairs to the door on the car, when a freight train backed up against the car and he was crushed between it and the station platform. Most of his ribs were broken.

When Miss Robinson heard of the accident to Webster she remembered what she had said and fainted.

Two thousand people, most of them women, assembled in Twelfth street park to see the game, but it was abandoned because of the tragedy on the railroad.

Met His Match.

In an open field with no avenue of escape, Frank Blomster found himself in a position that demanded immediate action the other afternoon. The conditions were these: An infuriated steer in a large field; Blomster ducking vicious assaults; a dozen spectators, each of whom has had a similiar experience up to this point.

One tires of anything, Blomster says: tires of being the butt of a joke, even when cracked by a steer in a bad humor. After repeatedly ducking the most vicious lunges of this beast, a critical moment was arriving. With no fence or trees to scale, the situation presented was a serious one, and it was a case of necessity rather than bravery that impelled the forced gladiator to grapple his antagonist.

There was an apparent armistice, the distance between the living catapult and the six-foot Swede was widened, but it was only to strengthen its position that the four-footed bellowing beast backed, for on it came with increased speed, and with a bound it made a fearful lunge at its enemy. Quick as a flash a strong hand grabbed the extended nostrils of the brute, there was a mixture of Swede and steer for a moment, but at the finish the steer lay on its back and Blomster sat on its head. The animal was then roped led away to the slaughter house.—Centre Hall Reporter.
